Analysis paragraph:

The background music throughout the movie gave me an impression that the story was not a happy one, at least the first half of it. The bread and the cup of coffee let me know that the owners of the house left abruptly. The close-up shot of the girl, for example, the one at 1:18, told me that she is very frightened. The close-up shot of the old women at the end of the film told me that she was emotional at that moment.
